Daniel Cole was in 1643 in Yarmouth Mass.
Later he was in Eastham and was town clerk
there many years. Ancestry known no further back
Davis and Freeman agree about this family

*4694. 6. Tisdale, Winslow. Joseph Winslow (3), seventh child of Job (2) (Kenelm 1) and Ruth Winslow, married Mary Tisdale of Taunton, daughter of Joseph and Mary (Leonard) Tisdale, and granddaughter of John and Sarah (Walker) Tisdale of Duxbury. Mary Tisdale was born in 1686, died March 28, 1719. Marriage published in Taunton, Feb. 11, 1707-8. Joseph Winslow married second, Hannah Jones. George (3) Winslow, tenth child of Job (2) and Ruth Winslow, born in Freetown, Jan. 2, 1690-1; married Elizabeth Tisdale, daughter of Joshua Tisdale. George (4) Winslow, fourth child and eldest son of George (3) and Elizabeth (Tisdale) Winslow, born July 19, 1728, in Freetown, died April 4, 1808. He married Jan. 30, 1747-8, Phebe Tisdale of Swansea (Swansea Records); she died May 18, 1802, aged seventy-nine. I do not know who were the parents of this Phebe Tisdale. Apparently Mary, who married Joseph Winslow, and Elizabeth, who married his brother George, were own cousins. Elsewhere I found: "6 March, 1676-7, 3 Indians, named Timothy Jacked(?), Pompacanshe, and Nassamaquat, and Knowles, John Tisdale, Sr., and Sam'l Attkens." Also, "6 March, 1676-7. Order for settlement of estate of John Tisdale—to the eldest son a double portion & to the other 3 sons & 4 daughters an equal portion," etc.

Also, "1 Nov., 1676. Lres of administration are granted jointly unto John Tisdale, James Tisdale, Joshua Tisdale and Joseph Tisdale to administer on the estate of John Tisdale, Senir., deceased." John Tisdale was one of original twenty-six purchasers of Freetown and received the twenty-third lot, upon which a part of Assonet Village is now located. He had settled in Marshfield where, in 1645, he was elected constable. Removed later to Taunton, where he was made a selectman 1672; representative 1674; death occurred June, 1675. His house, in Taunton, was burned by Indians, and he was slain.

Earliest reference I find to John Tisdale is under date of Oct. 2, 1637, when ten acres of land, "lying across to Green's Harbor Payth" were granted to him. Joshua Tisdale settled in Assonet.

I should be glad to learn more of the ancestry of John Tisdale, the names and parentage of the wives of his sons, and the George Winslow. Richard Winslow (3) (of Job 2, of Kenelm 1) born March 6, 1680, married Hannah. I do not know her surname.

recovered sufficiently to make it certain that he will risk the excitement of politics at present.

Mr. Nickerson was one of the most useful members of the Legislature this year, and attained special prominence in connection with the Washington street subway bill. Although a new member, he was appointed to the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and, with Mr. Scofield of Malden, dissented from the majority report of the committee favoring the so-called Elevated bill. Around this nucleus the opposition rallied, and although the bill went through the House by an overwhelming majority, eighty solid votes were ready to support the veto of it by Governor Crane, and it was not difficult to secure a few more, or enough to prevent the friends of the bill securing two-thirds. Senator Frank A. Fales, who supported the bill, has been a candidate for a third term all along, and should Mr. Nickerson retire he will be left in the field to contest with ex-Representative Curtis of Stoughton. Two years ago the nomination was given to Senator Fales by the agreement of Dedham and Brookline. Personally Mr. Nickerson is one of the most popular members of the House.

Keenan Again for the House

Part of the Lomasney policies in Ward 8 bid fair to be settled by the selection of Thomas F. Keenan and Councilman Michael F. Hart to be the Hendricks Club candidates for the House this year, Joseph P. Lomasney retiring and Francis J. Horgan having gone forth to do battle as an anti-Lomasney candidate for senator. Mr. Keenan is the well-known newspaper man, and has served in the Council, the Board of Aldermen and the House, in each two terms. It was reported a few weeks ago that he would antagonize Lomasney this year, but the report was untrue, although it is not to be doubted that Mr. Keenan has felt that it is about time for something to come his way.

McPherson for a Third Term

Representative Charles J. McPherson of Framingham has abandoned an intention to enter the senatorial field against Hon. William Nutt of Natick, and it is understood that Senator Nutt will be given his second term without trouble, notwithstanding that he was selected originally by the drawing of his name from a hat. It is understood that Mr. McPherson will be a candidate for a third term in the House, preliminary to entering the senatorship contest next year.

*2591. Priest. Degory Priest had two children born in Leyden, Mary and Sarah. Mary married Phineas Pratt (see "Phineas Pratt and his Descendants," by Eleazer F. Pratt of Boston), Oct. 4, 1611. Nov. 4 Degory Priest of London in England, accompanied by William Lysle and Samuel Fuller, the after physician of Plymouth Colony, as witnesses, with Sarah Vincent of London, widow of John Vincent, accompanied by Jane Diggins and Rosamond Jepson, as witnesses, as found in marriage record at Leyden (see page 162, "Story of the Pilgrim Fathers," by E. Arber).

Sarah Priest and Rosamond Jepson witnessed marriage of William White to Anna Fuller Jan. 27, 1612 (see page 163, ibid.). Sarah Priest and Margaret Savery witnessed marriage of Moses Fletcher to Sarah Dingby Nov. 30, 1613 (see page 164, ibid.). This Sarah Priest evidently was a sister of Degory. When Isaac Allerton, brother of Degory's wife, married, Oct. 4, 1611, Mary Norris, one of her witnesses was the afore-said Anna Fuller (see page 162, ibid.)

revision bill which the Republicans of Congress can pass. This commission, which was appointed by a caucus of the Republicans of the House, and which is now in session at Atlantic City, has not attracted as much attention as the importance of its duties deserves. Our press and people have become so incredulous with regard to Congress being in earnest about any project of currency reform, that they are inclined to regard the commission as only one of the many methods which our law-makers employ for dodging the question. Consequently they give to the commission and its work but scant attention.

As a people, we are too prone to see "bluff" in everything. The correspondent of the Statist, however, an accomplished observer, sees not "bluff" but a very promising prospect of the commission accomplishing a good work, and presenting it to Congress in a shape easily to be converted into legislation.
